Though nature weigh our talents, and dispense To evry man his modicum of fense, And Conversation, in its better part, May be esteemd a gift and not an art, Yet much depends, as in the tillers toil, On culture, and the sowing of the soil. Words learnd by rote a parrot may rehearse. But talking is not always to converse; Not more distinct from harmony divine, The constant creaking of a country sign. As alphabets in ivory employ, Hour after hour, the yet unletterd boy, Sorting and puzzling with a deal of glee Those feeds of science calld his Abc; So language in the mouths of the adult, Witness its insignisicant result, Too often proves an implement of play, A toy to sport with and pass time away. Collect at evning what the day brought forth, Compress the sum into its solid worth, And, if it weigh th importance of a fly, The scales are false, or Algebra a lie. Sacred interpreter of human thought, How few respect or use thee as they ought! But all fliall give account of evry wrong, Who dare di(honour or desile the tongue; Who prostitute it in the cause of vice, Or sell their glory at a market-price; Who vote for hire, or point it with lampoon--The dear-bought placeman, and the cheap buffoon. There...
