Not illustrated. 1911 Excerpt: . . . is about as good as the conditions and possibilities will admit. I think we are improving in morals. The same crowd that hangs around bar rooms, pool rooms and barber shops furnishes our darkest side as to morals. Girls who work out and come home after dark are subjected to too much temptation for lack of the proper protection along this line. The general feeling is that the Negroes have not grown as rapidly in sound morals as in economic lines. My feeling is that this is not true. One, you can see and tabulate the data; the other is ethical and cannot be so readily recorded, but I believe it is as real nevertheless. Very poor. The old Spanish treaty insured exemption from slavery to the Creoles in this section of the state, opened an avenue for white men to make inroads upon the morals of Negro women who were anxious for their childrens future. The effects still last. I am sorry to say that I find colored people very lax in their morals but not more so than the other races. Arkansas Those I know personally and those with whom I most often come in contact are of good morals. Among the more enlightened and cultured the number of those who exhibit sound morals is large. But there is a large class of careless, rude and coarse mannered people yet untoucht by the influences of culture. Far too many seem to be without proper...
