Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Songs and Lyrics Author dyes an author, like an old fluff, with a new colour, but can never give it the lustre of the first tincture, as silks that are twice dyed lose their glosses, and never receive a fair colour. He is a small factor that imports books of the growth of one language into another, but it seldom turns to account; for the commodity is perishable, and the finer it is, the worse it endures transportation, as the most delicate of Indian fruits are by no art to be brought over. His labours are like dishes of meat twice drest, that become insipid, and lose the pleasant taste they had at first. He differs from an author as a fiddler does from a musician, that plays other men s compositions, but is not able to make any of his own. - Butler. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more at This book is a reproduction of an important historical work. Forgotten Books uses state-of-the-art technology to digitally reconstruct the work, preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy.
