Social Security Administration: Paying Attorneys Who Represent Disability Applicants 8 change their addresses without notifying SSA. SSA currently pays 65 percent of beneficiaries by means of direct deposit and wants to expand this approach to all its transactions. Possible improvements to SSAs information systems may also help reduce processing times. For instance, enhancements to SSAs information systems could eliminate much of the manual workload involved in processing and certifying attorney fees. As stated earlier, various information systems are currently used to process SSAs attorney fee workload associated with DI cases. These systems capture data on various aspects of the disability claims process, but are not linked to one another and, thus, require some manual intervention. As a result, without linked systems or a more streamlined process it is difficult for SSA to capture the data required to measure the timeliness of the total range of activities involved in paying attorneys. To efficiently administer user fees that are based on timeliness of...
